TEORI ISTIHĀLĀH MENURUT PERSPEKTIF ISLAM DAN SAİNS: APLIKASI TERHADAP BEBERAPA PENGHASILAN PRODUK MAKANAN

Mohammad Aizat Jamaludin
Che Wan Jasimah Wan Mohamed Radzi

ABSTRACT

Basically, this article focuses on the theory of iphihlah from both Islamic and modern science perspectives. It involves discussions on the application of iphihlah in several food products, whether it is classified as iphihlah saihilah (acceptable change) or iphihlah fasidah (unacceptable change). In order to achieve the objective, samples of animal-based food products are used to analyse the theory of iphihlah. The research finding shows that iphihlah is relevant as a purification alternative to solve the recent issues on food product.

Keywords: iphihlah, halal, makanan

 Master of Shariah Candidate at the Department of Fiqh and Usul, Academy of Islamic Studies, University of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, eizuhdi@gmail.com
 Senior Lecturer at the Department of Sience and Technology, Faculty of Science, University of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, jasimah@um.edu.my