1. Isrāʿiliyyāt: Kajian Kefahaman Guru-Guru Pendidikan Islam Di Sekolah-Sekolah Menengah Zon Keramat, Wilayah Persekutuan Kuala Lumpur
Bazliha BintiNazri, Zulkifli Haji Mohd Yusoff

Khadijah Mohd Khambali @ Hambali, Nor Adina Binti Abdul Kadir,
Khairul Anuar Bin Mohd Amin Khir

3. Religious Ethics On Industrialization: A Quranic Perspective
Mohd Kairul Nizam Zainan Nazri, Mahmud Ahmad,
Nurul Jannah Zainan Nazri, Mardiana Bt Mat Ishak

4. Usrah Teras Pembangunan Insan: Tinjauan Pelaksanaannya Dalam Kalangan Para Pelajar Kolej Islam Sultan Alam Shah (Kisas)
Fakhrul Adabi bin Abdul Kadir, Kamarul Hazani bt Yusof,
Ummu Hani bt Abu Hassan

افتخار معظم الحكام المسلمين لخلق السماحة وتداعيات ذلك على أمم العشاد والبلاد
(قيادة الليبية نموذجا)
Mohammad Said M Al-Hami, Abdul Wahed Jalal Nori,
Bharuddin Bin Che Pa

Diterbitkan oleh
Akademi Pengajian Islam
Universiti Malaya
JURNAL USULUDDIN
Journal of Usuluddin
ABSTRACT

Mohammad Said M Al-Hannah, PhD, Visiting Senior Lecturer Department of History, University of Malaya

Abstract:

As one oppressive regime after another in North Africa and the Middle East, over the past few months we’ve watched, listened, and read about the Arab Spring. The Arab Spring is a phenomenon that has captured the world’s attention. It is a series of protests and uprisings that have occurred in several countries in the Arab world. The protests were sparked by economic and social grievances, and they have spread from Tunisia to Egypt, Syria, and other countries in the region.

The Arab Spring has also raised questions about the future of democracy and human rights in the Arab world. Will these protests lead to lasting political change? Will the governments that have repressed their citizens for so long finally give way to genuine democracy? These are questions that we will continue to follow closely.

In this essay, I will analyze the Arab Spring and its implications for the future of democracy and human rights in the Arab world. I will discuss the role of the international community in supporting these protests, and I will examine the challenges that lie ahead for the countries that have emerged from the Arab Spring.

Mohammad Said M Al-Hannah, PhD, Visiting Senior Lecturer Department of History, University of Malaya