Family Difficulties in Children with ADHD, the Role of Integrated Psychopharmacology Psychotherapy Treatment

H.H. Aili¹, B. Norharlina², K.S. Manveen¹ and W.I. Wan Salwina³

[¹] Psychiatry Adolescent and Child Unit, Department of Psychological Medicine, Faculty of Medicine, University Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

[²] Department of Psychiatry and Mental Health, Hospital Selayang, Malaysia

[³] Department of Psychiatry, Faculty of Medicine, University Kebangsaan, Malaysia

Abstract: Children with ADHD and their families face many challenges. The chapter discusses these difficulties with a case illustration. The write up of the case will demonstrate the difficulties faced by children with ADHD and their families; highlighting how the difficulties in the parents impact the child’s ADHD symptoms. The case illustration will demonstrate how “normal” the cases can be, and often are missed or dismissed, yet it causes distress to the children and the adults. The chapter hopes to raise awareness that not only does the child needs assistance so do his/ her family members. Helping the parents will significantly aid in the progress of the child.

Keywords: Psychopathology, family difficulties, parents, children with attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), management