Real-life moral dilemmas are conflicts faced by individuals in their daily lives. In teaching Moral Education to adolescents, the use of real-life moral dilemmas is practical and realistic. This is due to the fact that each individual differ in the way they interpret and resolve a moral issue. When individuals face moral dilemmas in their daily lives, they interpret those dilemmas according to their own moral orientation and level of moral development, and particular context and experience. Adolescents are capable of sharing their own-live moral dilemmas and interacting with others to resolve such matters. + more >>
